“The German Adressbuch” 1942: Bavaria

Introduction

The title of the original source presented here is: "The German Addressbuch [address book]. Section on Administration and Public Economy in Bavaria." It is a voluminous compilation of the names and addresses of party and state agencies and functionaries in Bavaria (see table of contents), taken from a German handbook translated into English and supposed to help the Office of Military Government in Bavaria (OMGBAY) to fulfill its duties in the administration (and most likely the denazification) of the state of Bavaria after the end of war. A copy of the list is in NARA’s pertaining Record Group No. 260 (OMGUS), Box No. 155, folder No. 13/024-3/016 which contains a file of the Fiscal Section Detachment F1B3, Company B, 3rd ECA Regiment deployed in Nuremberg as part of the local Military Government’s Finance Division. Though the copy is not dated, it can be assumed from the other papers within the file that the "Addressbuch" was in use from July 1945 to April 1946. The basis of our online list is a copy’s copy in Nuremberg City Archives’ holding F 6 OMGAY No. 428.

Certain detail information in the list led us to the conclusion that the original "Deutsches Adressbuch" must have been from late 1941 or 1942 (see "Chambers of Industry and Commerce (as of 1 October 1941)" and the title of a "Reichsamsleiter" for Willy Liebel, the Nazi Lord Mayor of Nuremberg, who became a staff member of the architect Albert Speer in 1942).

Finally, why does RIJO publish such an extensive list of bureaucratic information? Because we consider it useful to everyone dealing with the history of the Nazi era in Bavaria down to the level of the grass roots. Usually such information including the comprehensive captions of the editor are difficult to obtain in English. For this reason we hope that our offer will be gratefully accepted by the visitors.

TRADE SUPERVISION OFFICIALS (Gewerbe-Aufsichtsbeamte)
Those officials which, next to the local police authorities, are charged with the supervision of the carrying out of certain points of the trade law are, according to functions and local customs, called: Trade Councillors (Gewerberäte), District Trade Councillors (Regierungsgewerberäte), Trade Inspectors (Gewerbeinspektoren) or Trade Controllers (Gewerbekontrolleure).
Concerning the functions of this category of officials, paragraph 139b of the Reich Trade Code contains the following regulations:
The supervision of the execution of the provisions (p. 179) of sections 105a, 105b, paragraph 1, 105c-105h (Regulations concerning the Sunday-rest of workers and the exceptions specified by law), sections 120a-120e (regulations concerning the life and health of the workers); sections 134-139a (work order, workers’ committees, child labor, youth workers, women workers) is exclusively, or next to the local police-officials, especially delegated to those officials appointed by the state government. Through the exercise of this supervision, all official acts of the local police authorities, especially the right of immediate reforming of the premises, are in the same category. They are, with the exception of exposing illegal acts, responsible for keeping secret the trade and business relationships of the enterprises that come officially to their knowledge. The officials have also delegated to their sphere of administration further duties of labor protection (child labor, home labor, etc.)

The regulation of the relationship between these officials and the ordinary police authorities is reserved to the respective state ministry.

The above-mentioned officials must make yearly reports concerning their official activities. The official inspections made by reason of the regulations of sections 105a-105h, 120a-120r, 134-139a must be permitted by the employer at any time during operation, even at night.

The employers are further bound to give the appointed public official or the local police authorities such statistical information concerning their relationship with their workers, on such forms and within such a time limit as they require. (p. 179)
